NOTICE OF APPARENT LIABILITY FOR FORFEITURE

Adopted: July 2, 2010Released: July 6, 2010

By the Chief, Spectrum Enforcement Division, Enforcement Bureau:

I. INTRODUCTION

1. In this Notice of Apparent Liability for Forfeiture (“NAL”), we find Cellphone-Mate Inc. (“Cellphone-Mate”) apparently liable for a forfeiture in the amount of four thousand dollars ($4,000) for willful and repeated violation of Section 302(b) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended (“Act”),¹ and Section 2.803(a)(1) of the Commission’s Rules (“Rules”).² The noted apparent violation involves Cellphone-Mate’s marketing³ of radio frequency devices that are not labeled in accordance with Section 2.925(a)(1) of the Rules.⁴

II. BACKGROUND

2. The Enforcement Bureau received a complaint alleging that Cellphone-Mate’s SureCall™ Model CM2000-WL dual band cellular/PCS signal amplifier (“amplifier”)⁵ was labeled with FCC Identification number RSNDUAL-62UNDER, an FCC ID number which is not found in the FCC’s Equipment Authorization Database. Subsequently, the Enforcement Bureau’s Spectrum Enforcement Division (“Division”) began an investigation. The Division issued a letter of inquiry (“LOI”) to Cellphone-Mate on January 29, 2010.⁶ Cellphone-Mate responded to the LOI on March 1, 2010.⁷ In its LOI Response, Cellphone-Mate admitted that it marketed the amplifier with a label specifying the FCC

² 47 C.F.R. § 2.803(a)(1).

³ Marketing, as defined in 47 C.F.R. § 2.803(e)(4), “includes sale or lease, or offering for sale or lease, including advertising for sale or lease, or importation, shipment, or distribution for the purpose of selling or leasing or offering for sale or lease.”

⁴ 47 C.F.R. § 2.925(a)(1).

⁵ We note that the Wireless Telecommunications Bureau has a pending proceeding in WT Docket No. 10-4 regarding the proper use of signal boosters on frequencies licensed under Parts 22, 24, 27, and 90 of the Rules. See Wireless Telecommunications Bureau Seeks Comment on Petitions Regarding Use of Signal Boosters and Other Signal Amplification Techniques Used With Wireless Services, Public Notice, 26 FCC Rcd 68 (WTB, 2010). This NAL does not purport to address any issues raised in that pending proceeding.

ID number as RSNDUAL-62UNDER.⁸ Cellphone-Mate explained that it made a typo on the label and that the actual FCC ID number for the amplifier is FCC ID number RSNDUAL-60UNDER, which was granted on August 28, 2009.⁹ Cellphone-Mate stated that it began marketing the amplifier in September 2009.¹⁰

III. DISCUSSION

A. Cellphone-Mate Apparently Marketed Improperly Labeled Devices

3. Section 302(b) of the Act provides that “[n]o person shall manufacture, import, sell, offer for sale, or ship devices or home electronic equipment and systems, or use devices, which fail to comply with regulations promulgated pursuant to this section.”¹¹ Section 2.803(a)(1) of the Rules provides in pertinent part that:

Except as provided elsewhere in this section, no person shall sell or lease, or offer for sale or lease (including advertising for sale or lease), or import, ship, or distribute for the purpose of selling or leasing or offering for sale or lease, any radiofrequency device unless ... [i]n the case of a device [that is] subject to certification, such device has been authorized by the Commission in accordance with the rules in this chapter and is properly identified and labeled as required by § 2.925 and other relevant sections in this chapter....¹²

Additionally, Section 2.925(a)(1) of the Rules provides:

Each equipment covered in an application for equipment authorization shall bear a nameplate or label listing the following: (1) FCC Identifier consisting of the two elements in the exact order specified in §2.926. The FCC Identifier shall be preceded by the term FCC ID in capital letters on a single line, and shall be of a type size large enough to be legible without the aid of magnification.¹³

The FCC Identification label enables the FCC and potential users to readily determine whether a particular device has been properly authorized and to obtain additional information about the device from the FCC’s publicly-accessible Equipment Authorization Database. Cellphone-Mate admitted in its LOI response that it marketed units of the amplifier that do not include the correct FCC ID number.¹⁴ Therefore, these devices are not labeled as specified by Section 2.925(a)(1) of the Rules.¹⁵ We

¹⁵ On June 24, 2010, Cellphone-Mate obtained a grant of certification pursuant to Section 2.933 of the Rules authorizing a change in the identification for the amplifier to FCC ID RSNDUAL-62UNDER. See 47 C.F.R. § 2.933 (stating that a new application for equipment authorization will be filed whenever there is a change in the FCC Identifier for the equipment). accordingly find that Cellphone-Mate's marketing of these improperly labeled devices apparently willfully¹⁶ and repeatedly¹⁷ violated Section 302(b) of the Act and Section 2.803(a)(1) of the Rules.

B. Proposed Forfeiture

4. Section 503(b) of the Act¹⁸ authorizes the Commission to assess a forfeiture for each willful or repeated violation of the Act or of any rule, regulation, or order issued by the Commission under the Act. In exercising such authority, we are required to take into account "the nature, circumstances, extent, and gravity of the violation and, with respect to the violator, the degree of culpability, any history of prior offenses, ability to pay, and such other matters as justice may require."¹⁹

5. Under the *Forfeiture Policy Statement*²⁰ and Section 1.80 of the Rules,²¹ the base forfeiture amount for the marketing of unauthorized equipment is $7,000 per model. We note that the $7,000 base forfeiture amount is typically imposed for marketing devices that are not in compliance with applicable technical requirements or are not authorized by an equipment authorization. Because adherence to the Commission's authorization procedures ensures that devices meet required technical standards, we have previously found that a downward adjustment of the base forfeiture amount from $7,000 to $4,000 is warranted for the marketing of devices that are authorized but improperly labeled.²² Consistent with this precedent, we propose a forfeiture of $4,000 against Cellphone-Mate for its marketing of improperly labeled amplifiers in apparent willful and repeated violation of Section 302(b) of the Act and Section 2.803(a)(1) of the Rules.
